EMPOWERING
BOSTON'S NEXT GENERATION

AN EQUITY- DRIVEN APPROACH TO YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

At Camp Harbor View, we are investing in the future of Boston. From fostering meaningful relationships to building economic mobility, our approach prioritizes family wellbeing.

Our shared vision is an inclusive, equitable Boston where every young person and family has the opportunity and resources to succeed.

Boston is a city of deep disparities. At CHV, we are working toward a future where access to education, wellness, food security, and all foundational needs are not contingent on economic status or racial identity.

“Camp Harbor View’s impact is driven through a multi-generational approach that centers individual families and ripples across communities – one young person at a time. We are furthering a targeted anti-poverty model and addressing systemic inequities on a local level.”

SHARON MCNALLY CEO

CULTIVATING A CONNECTED COMMUNITY

Building on relationships established at camp, CHV partners with teens and families year round to catalyze future opportunity and economic success.

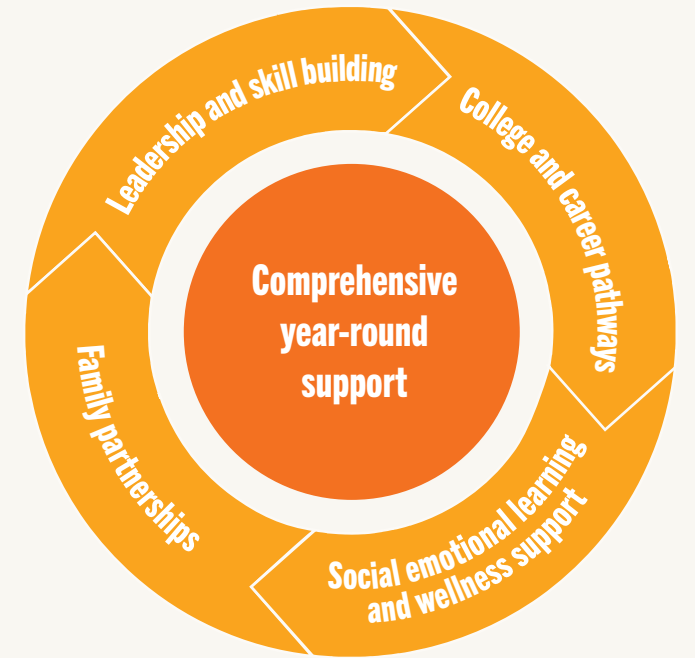

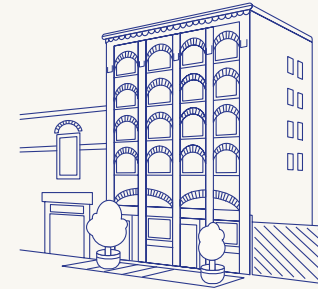

When families are healthy and supported, young people thrive. Through holistic family partnerships, we are redefining what youth development looks like.

Furthering equitable access to mental health resources, career exposure, and post-secondary planning, the CHV Leadership Academy equips young people with the soft skills and hands-on experiential learning to grow personally and professionally. In addition, targeted interventions like guaranteed income, food support, and resource coordination address foundational household needs and build wellbeing for all.

“Camp Harbor View wrapped their arms around me and my son in so many different ways. I can put all my time, energy, and resources into supporting my family because I know that I am supported as a parent.”
